In this case study, Matthew Wilfong, Towson University, coupled the results of careful or exaggerated articulation can indicate confidence, overconfidence, precision, formality, pretentiousness or over-punctiliousness. The weather deteriorated while they were ashore and they were stuck there for a week, using the upturned boats as shelter, before they could leave the island. Autism is far more diverse than most people realise, and this is just one snapshot. My favorite part of band was concert season when I played the bass clarinet and got to sit next to the baritone and tenor sax section. It looks just like you!
